

50 Detailed FAQs – NVOCC Services

1. What are NVOCC Services?

NVOCC Services (Non-Vessel Operating Common Carrier) are logistics solutions provided by companies that handle cargo transportation without owning ships. They act as carriers and issue their own House Bill of Lading.

2. How do NVOCC Services work?

NVOCC operators book cargo space with shipping lines and resell it to customers, managing the entire shipping process from origin to destination.

3. What is the role of an NVOCC?

An NVOCC acts as an intermediary between shippers and shipping lines, offering flexible, cost-effective cargo movement solutions.

4. What is a House Bill of Lading (HBL)?

An HBL is a transport document issued by an NVOCC to the shipper as proof of cargo receipt and shipment contract.

5. What is the difference between NVOCC and freight forwarder?

An NVOCC acts as a carrier and issues its own bill of lading, while a freight forwarder acts as an agent for the shipper.
